ezee⁺ STRETCH

Ezee Stretch frames take all the difficulty out of stretch framing canvas prints.

It does away with all the problems you might have, whilst trying to stretch your own canvas prints.

Why are Ezee Stretch frames different?

The first difference you notice is that it has a card backing which eliminates knocks and dents that can be picked up whilst you are handling the canvas. This backing also adds to the overall feel of the finished product.

Secondly, we have introduced special, double-sided tape around the edges and back, which means that lining up your canvas print up has never been easier, as the canvas can be held in place and easily removed.

Unlike conventional methods of box stretching canvas prints, this will take you merely minutes to achieve the same finish as professional framers. This unique product gives anybody the ability to finish canvas prints to a gallery standard whilst still retaining the charm of wooden framed canvas prints...

5 steps to creating the perfect canvas.
